EDINBURGH:

PRINTED FOR THE SCOTTISH BURGH RECORDS SOCIETY.

MDCCCLXXI.

CRAWFORD AND M'CABE, PRINTERS, 15 QUEEN STREET, EDINBURGH.

THE SCOTTISH BURGH RECORDS SOCIETY.

The value of the early Records of the Burghs of Scotland, as throwing light upon national life and manners, explaining national institutions, and illustrating social progress, has been fully recognised, and can scarcely be exaggerated. Some of the Book Clubs, which have contributed so much to the elucidation of Scottish History, have already directed their attention to these Records. The Spalding Club has given the country a peculiarly interesting and valuable series of extracts from the Records of the Burgh of Aberdeen, while the Maitland Club has published notices from the Records of Dysart, and extracts from the Burgh Records of Glasgow, Prestwick, Edinburgh, and Canongate. Apart, however, from what has been done in regard to Aberdeen, it cannot be said that much more has been effected than merely to break ground in the direction of investigating and publishing extracts from the Burgh Records of Scotland; and as nothing more is now to be hoped from the Book Clubs which still exist, this Society has been formed for the special purpose of undertaking the work.

Besides extracts from the Burgh Records, copies of the Charters of Burghs and illustrative Extracts from contemporary local Records will be given, as far as may be considered desirable.

The annual subscription is One Guinea, payable in advance, on the 1st day of January. The first subscription was payable on 1st January 1868.

The Extracts from the Records of each Burgh will, as far as the Committee consider expedient, be issued separately, and without adhering to any prescribed order.

As affording a key to much that is to be found in the Records of the Burghs, and as generally illustrative of municipal institutions in Scotland, the Committee resolved to publish, in early volumes of the series, the Laws of Scotland relating to the Burghs, down to the accession of James VI. to the crown of England, and probably to the union of the two kingdoms. In pursuance of this design, they have already issued a volume containing the Laws of the Four Burghs, and the old Laws relating to the Burghs, from the earliest period of record till the return of James I. to Scotland in 1424. The editing of that work, and the preparation of the introductory historical sketch of the Burghs prefaced to it, were undertaken by Professor Cosmo Innes, who has also undertaken the editing of the second volume, which is now passing through the press.

A volume of Extracts from the oldest Records of the City of Edinburgh, extending from 1403 till 1528, and including all that is now known to exist of the burghal legislation of the capital during that period, was delivered to the members during March 1870. A second volume, containing Extracts from these Records, and Selections from the Accounts of the Treasurers and Deans of Guild of the City, down to 1556–7, will be issued in the course of three or four weeks. A third volume, containing selections from the Records and Accounts of the City till after the Reformation, with a general index of matters in the three volumes, is in preparation.

The Corporation of Edinburgh having authorised the transcription and printing, for its own purposes, of its oldest Charters and other muniments, was pleased to allow the Scottish Burgh Records Society to print off copies for the use of the members of the Society. That volume, containing Charters from 1143 to 1540, was delivered to the members in January last. The preparation of a second volume has been authorised.

The editing of "Selections from the Burgh Records of Aberdeen" having been undertaken by JOHN STUART, Esq., LL.D., in continuation of the series prepared by him for the Spalding Club, a volume of Extracts from these Records, extending from 1625 till 1642, is now ready for issue. It is hoped that Dr Stuart may be able to overtake a second volume of this interesting series during the ensuing year.

A selection of Charters relating to the Burgh of Peebles, and illustrative of its history, with Extracts from the oldest Records of the Burgh, is passing through the press. William Chambers, Esq., of Glenormiston, author of the "History of Peeblesshire," has kindly undertaken to write a historical preface to this collection.

Selections from the Records of the Burghs of Haddington, Dunfermline, and Dysart, are being prepared.

Some progress has been made in preparing for publication a collection of the oldest Charters of the Burghs of Scotland, and the Committee will be glad to receive from Town Clerks and other custodiers of public documents, such information as they can give in regard to original documents in their possession, illustrative of the constitution and early history of the municipal institutions of the country.

It is requested that all who are disposed to further the prosecution of this project, will be so good as to intimate their subscriptions as early as possible to the Secretary or Treasurer.

EXTRACTS FROM THE COUNCIL REGISTER OF THE BURGH OF ABERDEEN,	1
INDEX	295

PREFACE.

THE RECORDS of the BURGH of ABERDEEN are fuller and more complete than those of any other of our Scottish towns, while they commence at a far earlier period.

A fragment of the Burgh Court Records is dated in 1317, and from the year 1397 the series is all but complete to the present time.

Selections from these have been printed for the Spalding Club, in two volumes, which come down to the end of the reign of James VI. In these the Burgh is exhibited in many different aspects, as in its internal government, its relations with other communities, and with the surrounding feudal barons—in its religious and educational institutions, its sports and pageants—its regulations about trade—and in its attitude of unbounded hospitality to guests of all ranks. They furnish many picturesque illustrations of the manners and condition of every class, and of the results of the great ecclesiastical changes of the sixteenth century.

The selections in the volume now printed for the Burgh Record Society, embrace the period from the accession of Charles I. to the end of the year 1642.

We may see from these how tenaciously the citizens still clung to many old customs, and how persistent were the attempts of their rulers to improve them, by enforced religious observances, among which were daily catechisings in Church. These were to be attended by all persons, including masters and mistresses of families, under pecuniary penalties (p. 49). Morning and evening prayers were daily read in the Greyfriar Kirk, but attendance on these does not appear to have been compulsory (p. 62).

At the beginning of the volume several entries occur regulating the wapinschawings and musters then in fashion, which represent the volunteer system of the present day. The feelings of national insecurity which were recently so strong among ourselves, are depicted in a statement submitted to the magistrates by one of the citizens, of the "combustioun, bruttes and rumores of warres, and forane preparatiounes throchout Christendome," although his apt use of that wyse saying of King Solomon, Fælix illa civitas quæ tempore pacis prouidet bellum, might not have occurred so readily to a remonstrant of the present day.

We may see also in the arrangements for bealfires, in case of invasion, the substitute for the telegraphs of our time (17), and the anxious provisions for a supply of pure water for the burgh, "frome one spring near the toun," furnish curious matter of comparison with the demands of modern times, which, in the case of Aberdeen, could only be met by the introduction to the town of the waters of the Dee (p. 55).

Several entries illustrate the connection which subsisted between the civic rulers and the schools of the burgh, and others give evidence of the regard in which they held such learned teachers as the grammarian Wedderburne, who was master of the Grammar School (pp. 26, 35, 50, 99).

There is a grotesqueness (continued from earlier times) in their forms of public rejoicing,—as in the "Solemnitie to be usit for the Queenes happie and comfortable delyuerie of a sone." By order of the magistrates, the town was to be warned "be sound of trumpet at the mercat croce . . . to assemble thamselffis this efternoone in thair paroche kirk, and thair to give most humble and hartie thankis to God for hir Majesties happie delyuerie of a sone; and efter ending of sermone, ordaines bonefyires to be put on throw all the streittes of the toune, the haill bellis to ring, the croce to be deckit and hung, a taffill to be coverit thairat, twa peice of wyne, ane quhyit and the uther clairat, to be run thairat, and given to all that pleasses call for the same, the sugar and spyce to be brocht thither in great abundance, a number of glasses to be cassin, the tounes haill great ordinance to be shott, and all the youthes of the toune to tak thair muskattis and accompanye thair magistrattis throw the streittes of the toun in singing psalmes and praising God; thairefter to pas the tyme in shuitting thair muskattis all the nicht ower at thair plesour, and all godlie merriness and pastyme usit that may expres the joy and gladnes of the hartis of the people" (p. 28).

The day on which the king "did resaive the crown of this his ancient kingdome of Scotland at Halirudehous," was appointed to be observed with like solemnities (p. 60).

Many earlier ordinances against the use of plaids by women had been fulminated; but still the "incivil forme of behauiour" was maintained by "many women of this burghe of gude qualitie, wha resortis both to kirk and mercat with thair plaidis about thair heidis." Intimation was ordered to be made from the pulpits, that in case of their persisting in this custom, "not onlie sall thair plaidis be shamfullie markit with a tar stick to thair disgrace, but lyikwayis confiscat and takin frome thame" (p. 59).

Many acts of kindness from the magistrates to the clergymen of the burgh are recorded in the earlier volumes. Thus, in 1560, Mr Adam Heriot, the first minister of the new religion, was presented with "ane garment and haill stand of claythis;" and on the departure of Dr William Forbes, one of the city clergy, to fill a pastoral charge in Edinburgh in 1622, he got a parting banquet, while his wife was presented with "wyne, sugar, and tobacco." In a few years Dr Forbes returned to Aberdeen, and in 1633 he was "written for be the archbishope to teache befoir the Kingis Majestie," when his travelling charges were defrayed by his patrons. Shortly afterwards he was nominated to fill the newly established See of Edinburgh; and on his finally leaving Aberdeen, he received a grand entertainment, the magistrates giving him a convoy to the Crabstane, and pledging him in a parting cup of Bon accord. They also sent commissioners to Edinburgh to represent the burgh, and to "congratulate the bishop's consecration" (p. 63).

Other entries in the present volume will be found to illustrate the views of the period on the subject of trade, royal interferences with burgh elections, and the disorders of the "licht horsemen" of the name of Gordon, while others are valuable for their notices of public men, such as George Jamesone, the celebrated painter; but the greater number relate to the town's share in the political troubles of the day, beginning with its refusal to subscribe the Covenant, followed up by the miseries, sieges, quarterings, and exactions, which ensued. On two occasions did the Marquis of Montrose take possession of Aberdeen, with the view of compelling the adherence of the citizens to the Covenant; and a third time he besieged the town with the view of punishing its inhabitants for their support of the principles which he had compelled them to adopt.

Such notices bring home to us more vividly than any general description, the conflicts and miseries of the time; while they are mixed with others, which show how, amid these public broils, the details of domestic and civic life were acted out. On these, however, it is unnecessary to enlarge, as the table of contents, prefixed to the volume, will direct the reader to them in detail. It only remains that I should record my obligations to Mr John Grant Leslie, Sheriff-Clerk Depute of Aberdeenshire, for undertaking the task of collating doubtful passages in the manuscript with the original Record.

JOHN STUART.

There was a petitioun givin in to youre maiesties counsall, the last counsall day, in name of the prouest and baillies of Aberdeine, compleaning vpoun some sinister informatiouns made to your maiestie, that the former dissensions and distractiounes there, did yit continue, quhairby your maiestie wes moued to direct a warrand vnder your royall hand, to the bishops of Aberdeine and Ross, and either of thame, to take notice of thir distractiounes, and accordinglie to provide for settling the peace of that burghe; this petitioun being at length heard, and we finding oure selffs verrie farre interest and wronged, that the sinceritie of oure honest and vpwright endeavouris in the prosecutioun and following out of that bussienes according to your Maiesties royall directioun sould be brought in questioun, be priuat persones abusing your maieteis sacred eares to thair oune corrupt endis, we did recommend to the B. of Ros to call for the

ar, first to considder if it be fitting to send ane commissioner at all, sieing at this tyme ye hawe no warrant, direction, or command by missive or letter frome his Maiestie, or his hienes commissioner for that effect, as in former Assemblies ye was wont to hawe; and if it be objectit the proclamatioun to be ane sufficient warrant, it is ansuerit thairto, besyd the proclamatiounes, this burgh was ewir in vse abefoir to resawe his Maiesties missive, his Commissionares, or the Lordis of Privie Counsell; secondlie, the commissionares chairges (the Assemblie sitting long as is expectit) will be exceiding great, and your worships knowes sufficiently quhow great the tounes burding is alreddie, quhilk we ar confident your worships will strywe rather to diminish (as your predecessoures did this last yeir) then to augment the samen; thirdlie, the commissioner that sal happin to be chosin (if any be), quhow weill affectit soewir, must neids ather displease his Maiestie (as God forbid), to quhome this toune stands so mutche obleist, or oure neighbour burrowes, or sall wrong the trust committit to him be this burghe, or wtherwayes wrong his awin conscience in assenting or disassenting, protesting or not protesting; fourthlie, if any commissioner be chosin, that he be suche a persone quha hes subscrywit the Confessioun of Faith and generall band now warranted be his Maiestie and Lordis of Secret Counsell, and quha will be gracious to his Maiestie and his commissioner, as not subscrywer of the first covenant, nor in any caice ane assenter or conniver yairto; fyiftlie, that inregaird of the weightie materis in hand, the haill brethreine of gild and bodie of this toune (being abusieres concerning oure consciences) sould be convenit and be acquaint with the iniunctiounes and instructiounes to be gewin to the said commissioner to this Assemblie, and that his commissioun be so limitat that wpoun quhatsumewir respect he presume not to transgres the meanest poynt of his commissioun; sextlie, we earnestlie desyir that oure commissioner (if any be chosin) be expresslie by his commissioun directit and commandit not to voice againes the kingis prerogative, articles of Perth, nor Episcopall governament; and if anything be concludit in the said Assemblie againes ather of these, in that caice the commissioner be obleist to disassent thairfra, and in name of this burghe and bodie thairof, protest in the contrair, sieing we hawe all for the maist pairt subscrywit the Confession of Faith and generall band warranted be his Maiestie and Lords of Secret Counsell, with these reservatiounes quhilkis ar enactit in your bookes: remitting the consideratioun of these particulares to your wisdimes, we expect your answer. Quhilk petitioun being red, hard, and considderit in counsell, and thay therewith being advysit, in respect of the weicht and importance of the busienes, thay ordaine the haill toune to be warnit be the hand bell to conveine the morne in the tolbuith at ten houres, to giwe thair advyse whether a commissionar sall be send or not to this ensewing assemblie; and if any salbe send, to resolue vpoun the tenour of his commissioun and instructiounes, whairwnto he sall be tyed and limited.

Leslie chosin commissionar anent Alexr. Keyth.

2 January 1639.

The quhilk day Patrik Leslie, late prowest, wes chosin commissioner to Edinburghe, for attending the defence of the actiounes intentit at the instance of the creditoures of Alexander Keith of Balmuir, against the magistrattes of this burghe, the yeire immediatlie bygaine and this present yeire, be reason of the said Alexander his escaping out of ward furth of the tolbuith of this burghe in the moneth of July last, and the said Patrik is ordanit to keip the eight day of this instant in Edinburghe for that effect, and to employ Sir Thomas Hope, his Maiesties advocat, and alse Sir Thomas Nicolsoun, Mr Roger Mowat, and Mr James Baird, advocattis, to compeire for the magistrattis in the saids actiounes.

5 January 1639.

Anent the actiones intentit aganes the magistrats be the creditoris of Alexr. Keyth.

5 January 1639.

The quhilk day the haill toune, both brethrene of gild and craftismen, being warnit be the hand bell to conveine this day within the tolbuith, and conveining thairin for the most pairt, it wes exponit to thame be Maister Alexander Jaffray, prouest, that the prowest and baillies of this burghe, the yeire bygane, so lykwayes the present prouest and baillies for thair entres, ar summundit at the instance of the creditoris of Alexander Keith of Balmure, to compeir befoir the Lordis of Counsell and Sessioun to heire and sie thameselffis decernit to mak payment to the saidis creditoures of the soumes of money debtfull to thame be the said Alexander Keith, be resone of his escaping furth of ward out of the tolbuith of this burght, in the moneth of July last bypast, efter he was arrested thairin at thair instance for the said debtis; and inrespect the said Alexander Keith his escaiping wes nowayes in default of the magistrattis for the tyme, bot onlie be a slight, he hawing causit inclose himselff within a trunck, and convoy himselff thairin furth of the said wairdhous to the peir and shoir of this burgh, quhair he had a bott attending him, in the quhilk he was transportit be sea to his awin hous at Boddum;

The ensignes of fute of the lyk kynd—ane furlot quheat, thrie furlotts meill, twa furlotts malt, ane boll aites, and aught punds money.

The soiouris of fortune of the lyk qualitie to hawe the lyk proportion of victuell, and all the rest of thair pay in money.

A capitane of horsse to have thrie furlotts wheat, twa bollis meill, ane boll twa furlottes malt, foure bollis twa furlottes aites, and twentie-foure punds monethlie.

A lievtennent of horsse, twa furlotts wheat, ane boll twa furlotts meill, ane boll malt, thrie bolls aittes, and sexteine pund money.

The cornet of horsse is to have twa furlotts wheat, ane boll meill, thrie firlotts malt, thrie bolles aittes, and twelf punds money.

The trumpetar, thrie furlotts meall, ane furlott twa peckis malt, ane furlott twa peckes aittes, and aughteine pundis money.

The corporall the lyck victuell, and twelf pundis money.

The horsman the lyck victuell, and sex pundis money.

The carriage horsse, for boy and horsse, ane firlott twa peckis meill, ane furlet malt, ane boll aites, and threttie ss. money.

The guard and pyiners to have the lyck pay as the common soiouris.

As also it is thocht fitt that the Committie of Warre in ilk schirrefdomes cast the proportioun of men out of everie paroche, and cause thame be enrolled and commanders appointed to bring thame out upoun advertissement.

And siclyik that the provisioun of armes be maid with all diligence be the tennent who is able to buy, or be the heritouris quhair the tennent is not able.

And siclyik it is appointit that the heritouris within everie schyre or committie of warre therein appointit commissaris, ane or ma, within ewerie presbiterie, to tak wp alse mucke victuell by and attour the said tent pairt as will intertaine the proportioun of men forrsaid to come out of the seuerall schyres, for fourtie dayes at least; quhilk proportioune is to be taken wp conforme to the rentis of the said presbyterie or shyre. 6 May 1640.

Instructiones for commanderis and soiouris.

And becaus the men must come out of euerie schirrefdome according to thair number, and thair interteinement must be according to thair rentis, thairfoir it is appointit, first, that if anie schyre be found efter dew calculatioun, to be stentit in the divisioun foirsaid to moir than thair dew proportioun, it is declaired tharefter exact tryell, vpon remonstrance it salbe remedied: Secundlie, it is declaired that thir men, or anie necessar pairt thairof, salbe imployed according to the most vrgent necessitie for defence of any pairt of the kingdome which salbe in danger for the time.

Thirdlie, if any schirrefdome or burghe sall give out moir provisioun in victuell or money than thair dew proportioun, efter valuatioun of the haill kingdomes, it is hereby declaired that, efter compt and rekning, the same salbe repaid; and if thay have payit out les, the same most be payed into the common collectour, to mak wp wther mens losses.

It is earnestlie recommendit to all the shyres in the kingdome, that colonellis be chosin where thay ar not as yet, and that the haill schyres be maid wp in companies, everie man as thay lye in thair paroches, betwixt sextie and sexteine, to be in readines wpoun all necessar occasiounes to defend thameselffis from any suddane invasionn, or to assist thair nightbouring shyres, as thay sall gett ordour, and necessitie requyre.

Where the valuationes ar not trewlie done, it is appointed that what is concealled shalbe confiscat for the publique vse.

It is also appointed, that those of the committie of warr shall hawe power to designe the men, and cause put thame out when thay get orderis.
